

THOUSANDS ENRERTAINED AT BIG PEACH DAY CELEBRATION

o'clock, the first train arrived, and on until noon they came into the new railroad station at Brigham at intervals of only a few minutes. Logan sent more than 1,000, and other points in northern Utah and southern Idaho furnished as many more. Ogden was represented by 2,000, and Salt Lake sent 3,000, with a trainload from Provo and other points down the line.

It seemed as though all Brigham must have been included in the reception committee at the station, and the Brigham military band voiced the welcome at the station as each train pulled in, and then headed the line of march up Forest street to Main and then south to the Central school grounds. The business streets of the city were handsomely decorated with the national colors, alternating with green, pink and yellow, the "Peach day" colors, which the Box Elder Commercial Club, Brigham, Utah. The citizens who distributed the peaches were: John P. Christensen, J. C. Knudsen, Nels Christensen, Hans Larsen, Orvil Jensen, Henry Olson, Joseph Hansen, Benjamin Call, John Pierce, Frank Fishburn and George W. Watkins. Peaches, grapes, plums and melons were seen on every hand, but the chief display was shown on the school grounds, where more than 300 crates of the finest of the 1909 crop were displayed in competition for the prizes offered by the Box Elder Commercial club. The $100 trophy cup was won by J. A. Hansen for the best display of peaches of not less than five boxes. This cup was won by Orrin Barker last year. I. E. Preble took the second prize of $4 in the cup competition. The prize of $4 for the best five cases adorned the telegraph poles in the middle of the streets. Business houses and residences also displayed the colors in profusion from one end of the city to the other.

All roads led to the Central school grounds, where Mayor Thomas H. Blackburn delivered a brief address of welcome, in which he turned Brigham over to his guests. F. W. Fishburn followed with a speech of welcome in behalf of the Box Elder Commercial club, which has always been the moving spirit for Peach day. The speeches were short and to the point, and both the mayor and Mr. Fishburn sounded the keynote "If you don't see what you want, ask for it."

The peaches, owing to the generous supply, lasted until nearly 4 o'clock, but the melons went as fast as they could be cut, and more than one small boy literally "mussed his ears" before he had his fill. The peaches were given out to holders of tickets which were distributed to passengers on all incoming trains, and at the information booth each box was stamped "Presented by"

went to Leslie Nichols, J. O. Smith, deputy horticultural inspector for Salt Lake county, acted as judge, and the exhibit was in charge of a committee of the Box Elder Commercial club, consisting of W. O. Knudsen and Carl Isaacson.

Billings, Dr. Ensign and Knudsen Brothers.

One of the thrills among the amusement features was the high diving of "Professors" Bowen and Evans, in which they climbed a sixty-foot pole and then landed in a shallow tank. Bowen did more than his contract called for by carrying a large load of "boozie" up the ladder with him and down to the tank. He performed the feat successfully twice during the afternoon, and then tried to whip the town marshal and superintendent of schools, and was finally landed in jail, charged with trying to break down the doors of the school building.

John H. Kidd, a blacksmith of Salt Lake, reported that his pocket had been picked, and the man who turned the trick was richer by $40. A distinguishable looking individual who was found to be a "fumbler" was arrested later, but a search revealed no $40. Two strangers who were working a "phony"

Jewelry racket were also locked up and held on general principles, and two residents of Brigham, who miscalculated their capacity for carrying liquor, were "temporarily restrained." This summed up the arrests made by the town marshal and his six deputies and the county sheriff and deputy for the day.

There was one accident during the afternoon, when the carriage in which Mrs. Alice Wilson was driving collided with another rig in Forest street. Mrs. Wilson's carriage lost a wheel, and she was thrown out and dragged for fifty feet, sustaining severe bruises.

DESERTED WIVES SEEK DIVORCE FROM HUSBANDS

Three wives complain of non-support in suits for divorce filed in the Third district court yesterday.

Jonasson in Ogden May 2, 1907, but claims he has not supported her. No children are mentioned and no alimony is asked for. Jacob Poulsen is charged with non-support by his wife, Lena Poulsen, whom he married at Logan May 22, 1908. The wife wants a divorce, custody of their two children and costs. She says her husband has not supported her for six years.

S.S.S. PURIFIES BAD BLOOD

Bad blood is responsible for most of our ailments, and when from any cause it becomes infected with impurities, humors or poisons, trouble in some form is sure to follow. Muddy, sallow complexions, eruptions, pimples, etc., show that the blood is infected with unhealthy humors which have changed it from a pure, fresh stream to a sour, acid fluid, which forces out its impurities through the pores and glands of the skin. A very common evidence of bad blood is sores and ulcers, which break out on the flesh, often from a very insignificant bruise, or even scratch or abrasion. If the blood was healthy the place would heal at once, but being infected with impurities which are discharged into the wound, irritation and inflammation are set up, the fibres and tissues are broken, and the sore continues until the blood is purified of the cause. S. S. S. is Nature's blood-purifier and tonic, made entirely from roots, herbs and barks. It goes down into the circulation and removes every particle of impurity, humor or poison, restores lost vitality, and steadily tones-up the entire system. S. S. S. neutralizes any excess of acid in the blood, making it pure, fresh and healthy, and permanently cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Boils, and all other skin eruption or disease. Book on the blood and any medical advice free.

TAFT ON HIS WAY WEST

and back me up on this platform," said the president. "When we are together there is plenty of strength and we work better than on separate platforms."

"In Massachusetts, from which I have just come, I had a senator and a congressman or two to help me out on the platform, but I do not need any one here, for I have Governor Hughes, and he always helps me out on the platform, and that's where I need assistance."

President Taft then presented the governor. "I have made a good many speeches in the last few years," said the governor, "but those I enjoyed making most were the ones for which I had the best subject and the best subject for a speech is a man. And I never made speeches with better satisfaction to myself than I did during the last campaign in support of your great president."

"You did good work, governor," interrupted the president, throwing his arm around the governor's shoulders. "You will never call on me in vain," responded the governor, who continued:

"Just one word this assemblage, irrespective of party, desires to have said, and that is Godspeed and best wishes for the chief magistrate of the nation. He is going on a long journey, so that the people may see him and hear his voice. It is an undertaking of difficulty and personal hardship, but it will be for the benefit of the people and will assist him also in the better discharge of his duties. He takes with him our cordial regards and best wishes, and I hope he will remember the cordial sendoff of the people of the Empire state. While we do not know east, west, north or south, the people of this state have a warmth of feeling toward the chief magistrate which is not equalled anywhere."
